The Club of Rome

Another organization that has drawn a high percentage of its members from the Council on Foreign Relations is the Club of Rome. The Club of Rome (COR) claims to be an informal organization of less than one hundred people who are, in their own words, "... scientists, educators, economists, humanists, industrialists, and national and international civil servants. . . ."<sup>56</sup> Included among these have been members of the Rockefeller family.<sup>57</sup> Altogether, there are approximately twenty-five CFR members who belong to the American Association for the Club of Rome.<sup>58</sup>

The Club had its beginnings in April of 1968, when leaders from ten different countries gathered in Rome at the invitation of Aurelio Peccei, a prominent Italian industrialist with close ties to the Fiat and Olivetti Corporations.<sup>59</sup> The organization claims to have the solutions for world peace and prosperity. However, these solutions always seem to promote the concept of world government at the expense of national sovereignty.

The Club of Rome has been charged with the task of overseeing the regionalization and unification of the entire world; the Club could therefore be said to be one step above the Bilderbergers in the one-world hierarchy. (COR's founder, Peccei, has been a close associate of the Bilderbergers.)<sup>60</sup> As far as I have been able to determine, most of the directives for the planning of the world government are presently coming from the Club of Rome.

The Club's findings and recommendations are published from time to time in special, highly confidential reports, which are sent to the power-elite to be implemented. On 17 September 1973 the Club released one such report, entitled Regionalized and Adaptive Model of the Global World System, prepared by COR members Mihajlo Mesarovic and Eduard Pestel.<sup>61</sup>

The document reveals that the Club has divided the world into ten political/economic regions, which it refers to as "kingdoms." (This sounds to me like a fulfillment of Daniel 7:15-28 and Revelation 13 in the making.) While these "kingdoms" are not set in concrete and changes could still occur, it gives us an idea of what lies ahead.*

Referring to the Mesarovic-Pestel study, Aurelio Peccei, the

*During the Nixon Administration the United States was further divided into ten federal sub-regions for the alleged purpose of "emergency management" and the "decentralization of the Executive Branch."

Club's founder, states:

Their world model, based on new developments of the multilevel hierarchical systems theory, divides the world into ten interdependent and mutually interacting regions of political, economic or environmental coherence. . . . It will be recognized of course that these are still prototype models. Mesarovic and Pestel have assumed a Herculean task. The full implementation of their work will take many years.<sup>62</sup>

In 1974, only a year after the report's distribution to Club members, Mesarovic and Pestel released their "findings" in a book entitled Mankind at the Turning Point, which was intended for public consumption. On pages 161-164 of this book, the authors display the same ten regions; only this time the word "kingdoms" has been omitted. They obviously didn't want the public to know the true nature of the Club's political ambitions.

What is particularly disturbing about all of this is that the Club of Rome is being spiritually driven—spiritually as in occultism. On pages 151 and 152 of Mankind at the Turning Point, Aurelio Peccei reveals his pantheistic/New Age beliefs, talking about man's communion with nature and the transcendent and using the term "noosphere" in referring to the collective field of intelligence of the human race. This uncommon expression cannot be found in a dictionary. By use of the term "noosphere" Peccei gives himself away as a student of Pierre Teilhard de Chardin, a French Jesuit priest (now deceased) whose occult ideas and writings, I would later discover, have had a deep impact on the New Age movement. In fact, Chardin is one of the most frequently quoted writers by leading New Age occultists.

At the conclusion of the book, Peccei remarks: "Philosophers have, from ancient times, stressed the unity of existence and the interconnection of all the elements of nature, man and thought. However, their teaching has seldom been reflected in political or social behavior."<sup>63</sup> The Club of Rome and its network of affiliated organizations would like to change all of that.

COR's New Age slant is reflected in its American Association membership, which included the late Norman Cousins, the long-time honorary chairman of Planetary Citizens and possibly the best-known and respected name at the forefront of the New Age movement. Other members are John Naisbitt, author of Megatrends; Amory Lovins, speaker at John Denver's New Age center (Windstar, in Snowmass, Colorado); Betty Friedan, the founding president of the National Organization for Women; and Jean Houston and Hazel Henderson, well-
